

Executive Dashboards

In today's competitive business environment organisations need access to their business data in a format that will assist in making the right decisions, manage performance and drive results. Pegasus Executive Dashboards provides a visual representation of key business information in real time through a wide range of user selected formats, with powerful drilldown to the underlying data. This allows managers and executives to easily identify trends and issues and take immediate action.

Put yourself in the driving seat

Customised Dashboards for each role

With Pegasus Executive Dashboards, each operator can define their own individual Dashboard, depending on their role and responsibility. Relevant critical information for each area can be tracked such as sales performance, financial key performance indicators and stock levels, enabling informed decisions to be made quickly and effectively.

Therefore if you are a managing director, financial director or sales director, you can have your own dashboard designed to fit the way you see the business.

Dynamic and interactive

The Executive Dashboards are linked to Opera II data in real time so that any information displayed is up-to-the-minute with the ability to drill down on business data and further drill down to the document image, such as an individual invoice. In addition to this, operators can filter the information within charts and graphs to create a personalised dashboard to suit their needs.

If you require further data manipulation, information from individual dashboards can also be exported to MS Excel without the need to cut and paste.

An early warning system for your business

An innovative feature of the Executive Dashboards is the ability to set alerts and identify exceptions within your business. This enables you to identify and track business performance and operational activities that are critical to the success of the business on an ongoing basis.

Safe and secure

The Executive Dashboards use the standard Opera II security settings for access rights and can be distributed through a standard internet browser. This means that remote users can access their critical data wherever they are and take any action necessary from the information received.

Key features

- Visually stunning presentation of data using a broad range of graphical styles of your choosing
- Real-time integration with Opera II data, producing up-to-the-minute financial and business information
- Accessed using a standard web browser, so remote users can gain access to key information
- Uses Opera II standard security setting to restrict and grant access
- Set up individual dashboards for each user
- Drill down to underlying data from graphs and charts
- Further drill down to the document image

T +27 (0) 11 326 2540 F +27 (0) 11 326 2540 E info@mpower.co.za www.mpower.co.za